

Late Added Honors Colloquium Contract

Information Sheet

Honors Colloquium contracts provide a mechanism for faculty members and students to spontaneously and collaboratively generate and schedule honors colloquia. Students and faculty are encouraged to use their imaginations when designing a Colloquium. Colloquia should be challenging, rewarding, stimulating and fun. If approved this contract will become a listed colloquium for the core course and may be scheduled for 4 more semesters without re-approval by requesting that your department scheduling officer include it whenever the core course is scheduled.

Honors Colloquia

Colloquia are meant to be small-group learning experiences. Colloquium size may range from two to twenty-five student participants, meeting with a faculty sponsor.

Completing This Contract

Only one contract needs to be submitted to the Commonwealth Honors College office. Each student who signs the colloquium roster will be proceeding according to these guidelines. The information we request at the top of the form (affiliated course, etc.) is required in order to correctly register the course. Answer the questions as thoroughly as possible; this form is the official UMass course description; grad schools, employers, etc., inquiring about the Colloquium may be sent a copy of this form. Be sure to include all of the information that we request. Note: If your proposal is not approved, you will be told why and encouraged to revise it.

What content does your group plan to study? Clearly define your topic and the nature of your study. Do you wish to investigate the "big picture," or a specific aspect of something? What do you hope to discover/accomplish? Why did you select this topic? How does the colloquium enhance material in the 2-4-cr. root course?

What format will your group use, e.g., reading/discussion, group project/discussion, laboratory experiment/discussion, performance attendance/discussion?

What are the criteria for grading? A written document (formal paper, journal, composition) is the standard method for wrapping up a colloquium. Other possibilities include: oral presentations; original poetry, fiction, or artwork; a performance; a contribution to a community; etc.
